THE BIPPONET

1953

The Staff wishes to present this 1953 edition of THE BIPPONET in the fond hope that it will help you recall many pleasant memories of B. H. S. and all the fun we had during that year.

We hope you will enjoy looking at this, as much as we have enjoyed preparing it.

THE BIPPONET STAFF--1953

We, the Bipponet Staff of 1953, dedicate this third edition of THE BIPPONET in memory of Carolyn Urschel, who, due to a fatal accident was called from our midst and with whom we shall some day share our fondest memories of our school life together.

Class Will

We the 1953 Senior Class of Bippus High School being of sound mind and body have prepared this, our last will and Testament.

- I, Mary Bannister, will my height to Maurice Frazee.
I, Alice Muir, will my typing ability to Beverly Miller.
I, George Olson, will my bashfulness to Rodney Rooney.
I, Sharon Garretson, will my long curls to Don Wagner.
I, Deloris Miller, will my ability to participate in sports, to Charlene Urschel.
I, Carl Frazee, will my sense of humor to Charles Poling.
I, Marion Urschel, will my red hair to Shirley Wygant.
I, Carolyn Frazee, will my curly hair to Richard Shaffer.
I, Don Sell, will my spelling ability to Bill Finton.
I, Fred Diefenbaugh, will my bashfulness on dates to Paul Landrum.
I, Connie Kaufman, will my shyness to Suzanne Stookey.
I, Shirley Wholford, will my ability to get all my work done to Marie Zinsmeister.
I, Ben Reed, will my private advanced Algebra class to Peggy Smith, so she can get the highest grades in her class.
I, Floyd Hoch, will my ability to go steady with one girl to the Junior Boys.
I, Nina Olson, will my blue dress to Shirley Wygant to make over in sewing class when her green one wears out.
I, Susan Lancaster, due to the fact that Paul Leonhardt willed me his HOUR-GLASS figure, in turn will it to Suzanne Stookey.
I, Carl Frazee, will my Levi's to Kenny Smith.
I, Mary Bannister, will my typewriter (recently repaired) to Asa Bolinger so he can type as fast as Suzanne.
I, Marion Urschel, will my ability to "skip" classes to Kenny and Richard.
I, Sharon Garretson, will my quietness to Charlene Urschel.
I, Don Sell, will my ability to work Trigonometry to Asa Bolinger.
I, Fred Diefenbaugh, will my trapping and hunting ability to Kenny Smith.
I, Ben Reed, will my position as hen-pecked yell leader to Rodney Rooney.
I, Carolyn Frazee, due to the fact that Barbara Emley willed me the use of the family car, in turn will it to Esther Snyder.
I, Alice Muir, will my ability to be a giggle-box to Mr. Tilson King.
I, Shirley, will my ability to stay in the library a whole period to read one newspaper to Richard Shaffer.
I, Connie Kaufman, will my "big" appetite to Paul Landrum.
I, Nina Olson, will the tuning screw on my flute to Suzanne so she can play in tune at the contest.
We, Deloris and Susan, will our ability to sing in Science class, to Sandra Burton and Alice Altman.
We, George and Floyd, will our ability to get down to business immediately in ball practice to next year's varsity candidates.
We, the Senior class of "53" will our co-operative spirit with the Faculty of B.H.S. to the coming seniors of next year.
We, the Senior Class, will to Mr. Tilson King, our excuse blanks as a reminder of our promptness and enthusiasm; to Mr. Harwood, our basketball team; to Miss Williams the remains of the typewriters after two years of typing; our overworked musical talents to Mr. Earl King; to Mrs. Swales, our promptness to pay our class dues; to Mrs. Wendel, our sponsor, the pleasure of directing class plays; and to Mr. Prout, the ability to keep the furnace in the shop under control.
We, the Senior Class, will our fellowship and success to the Seniors of 1954.
We, the Senior Class, will-----leave.

Senior Class Prophecy

I'd like for you to know that life as the wife of a millionaire isn't all peaches and cream. The only real pleasure I've had since my marriage two years ago is my freedom to travel when and where I please without worrying where the next meal is coming from. In my travels I have renewed the acquaintances of many interesting people. For example, as I was walking down Fifth Avenue in New York the other day, I saw a large sign which read "ALICIA'S BEAUTY SALON." Since I was in the market for a hairdresser, I went in to see about an appointment. I asked for the manager, and whom should I see standing before me, but Alice Muir, and old friend of mine. Alice hasn't changed a bit--she's still the same laughing Alice she was in high school. She told me that she was intending to close in fifteen minutes, and if I would wait, we could go up to her pent house apartment and talk over old times. Of course I'm not one to turn down an offer like that, so I accepted.

When we reached her apartment she had her maid serve tea, and we talked about our old friends. Don't misunderstand me, there was no gossip, only a friendly discussion. She told me that she just got a letter from Susan Urschel (the former Susan Lancaster) and that the children have the mumps. Marion III has them the hardest--on both sides I guess--but the girls were luckier. She says taking care of four patients with the mumps is hard on her patience. Incidentally, she thinks she should have taken more than one course in practical nursing. Each one of the four children has red hair, just like their father. Marion, Junior is doing quite well on the farm, I understand. He belongs to the "rich farmer" class that Mr. Prout used to talk about so much. Oh you remember Joe Prout don't you? He taught social studies in high school. He is now teaching in a one-room school house in North Dakota. He has eight grades to teach and only twenty-one pupils. It seems he has settled down and has three sons, ages three, five and eight. Confidentially, I didn't think he would ever marry when he appeared to be so thoroughly disappointed in his love affair with Miss Williams, our high school typing teacher. Oh yes, Miss Williams is married and has given up teaching. . . after all, who could teach school with four-year-old triplets to take care of? Little George Junior is quite a mischievous one, I understand--like father like son!

After about two hours of reminiscing, Alice and I had dinner and decided to go to the Broadway Play, "Adventures of Handsome Harry." The star actor of the play was none other than Ben Reed, another school chum. We got a chance to talk to Ben backstage after the show and learned that the Harlem Globetrotters were starting on their European tour the following week, and that they had just purchased a new comic player. It seems this player is not only a comedian, but he is known for making baskets from any place on the floor. Ben didn't know his real name, for he has never revealed it, but he goes by the name of "Sure-fire Sam" on the hardwood. In the last few years it has become customary that before a basketball team leaves for a foreign tour it plays an exhibition game with its choice of the professional teams. The Globetrotters this year have chosen the Boston Celtics as their opposition, and Ben told us that the exhibition game was to be held the next evening in Madison Square Garden. Since Alice and I are basketball lovers, we decided to attend the game, and as the players were introduced, we recognized one of them. The Globetrotters' new player, "Sure-fire Sam" is none other than our old friend, George Olson. He always was one for clowning, and with that dark covering he puts on his skin before a game, no one knows who he is. George told us after the game that previous to this tour in his spare time he sang over station WBIP in Bippus, Indiana. He usually sings by transcription, but as he says, he only does it to please the home-town folks.

Oh, yes, I almost forgot to tell you that Ben Reed is also Editor of the "NEW YORK TIMES," and a star in the Metropolitan Opera House, besides starring on Broadway. He must be quite busy!

The day after the exhibition game I stepped aboard my plane and started on my way to Chicago, for that was to be my next stop. I was quite surprised when a beautiful young lady dressed in furs asked my permission to sit down beside me, and when I looked up, I recognized her as Connie Kaufman. She told me that she was returning to Bippus since the death of her husband. Connie met Lemual Gordon about five years ago, and three months later they were married. Now, just two weeks before their fifth anniversary he just takes a notion to die. The gall of that man! It looks like he could have held out for a while yet. Well, anyway, Connie has certainly changed since her high school days. You remember how quiet and shy she was in high school, don't you? When she met and married Mr. Gordon, she became New York's leading socialite. Despite her position, she says she still manages to get to bed by 8:00 every night. That was the reason she gave to the reporters when she was voted Mrs. American in 1959. You know what that title means don't you?--That's right--the most beautiful married woman of the year! Quite a title isn't it, Connie? As for her future plans, Connie didn't have much to say. She is financially fixed for life--and then some, so she will probably just take it easy in her old home town.

Connie told me that she had just received news of some of the kids from home. Take Carolyn Frazee for instance. She is now the wife of Mr. Ralph (Bogie) Bannister, the famous TV star. Just three years ago she gave birth to identical quintuplet girls. She has quite a family to take care of hasn't she? I'd hate to think of the quints getting sick, wouldn't you? She and Ralph fared pretty well though. You should have seen the gifts they got!

When I got off at Chicago, I went down town shopping. I was attracted by a large sign reading, "Doctor Bannister, Psychologist and Marriage Counselor." That sign interested me, because I had known a girl by the name of Bannister in high school, and wondered if there could be any chance be any connection. I ascended the steps with little hope but a lot of curiosity, and was quite pleasantly surprised to see my dear friend, Mary looking me in the eye when I entered the door. Mary has never married, though I guess she hasn't given up hope. Being a marriage counselor she gets the opportunity to meet a lot of men. She also told me that she is the acting president of the A. L. H. C. (American Lonely Hearts Club). At that rate she is bound to trap a man! I use the word 'trap' loosely, but that's what Mr. Harwood used to say!

That reminds me--Paul Harwood is now coaching his own team of basketball players instead of a school team--he's in for the big stuff now! I guess the team isn't so big, though, or so famous yet either, but just you wait! The Harwood Sons, as the team is called, range in age from one to nine, so they are a little young, but time will tell. I guess Virginia, Vicki and Valerie are sitting at home waiting for the men of the family to get into the big money of professional basketball. They'll outdo the Clark Twins any day! Yes, these six Harwood boys should be on top soon.

Mary told me that she just got a wire from Sherry Gary, the new recording artist in Hollywood. You and I know her better as Sharon Garretson, talented graduate of Bippus High School. She is sweeping the nation with her popular and semi-classical recordings. In the telegram she said she had been offered a contract to star in a new MGM 3-dimension musical. She started at the bottom of the ladder of success, but has really worked her way to the top.

After a nice visit, I left Mary's Studio, and proceeded down the street. I was attracted by a newsboy on the corner waving a paper, and thought I recognized the picture on the front page. I bought a paper and went to a lounge to read it. Whose picture do you suppose I saw splattered all over the front page? Fred Diefenbaugh! The headlines screamed, "Fred Diefenbaugh, Indiana Man Chosen Secretary of the Treasury by President. Now he'll really have 'money to burn'!"

Also on the front page of the paper, I saw a notice that that evening Nina Olson, world-famous concert pianist, was to give her last concert before leaving on her tour through Europe, so I decided to go. I managed to slip backstage after the show, and talked to Nina. She said she had planned to fly to New York and meet an old friend, Shirley Wohlford, before going on to Paris. Shirley is New York's top fashion designer, and is going to Paris to assist in the designing of some new Paris Spring Fashions.

Nina also said that she's just heard from another school chum, Deloris Miller. She is in the heart of Deepest Africa now with her husband, who is a missionary. I guess the going is pretty rough, but you know Deloris, no matter what the trouble is, she always comes through the goodness of her heart. Deloris gave them a home. The problem is that she can't quite understand their language, and they can't understand hers, so they try to use sign language. That can be quite troublesome, especially when the children are so young. Even though she is busy, she still has a little spare time. And what do you suppose she does with that time?--That's right, she works out crossword puzzles.

I continued my journey westward, and when I arrived in Los Angeles, I called Sharon and asked her to meet me at the Falmingo Club in Hollywood in forty-five minutes. She obliged, and we spent quite a while just talking. You can't know how nice it is to travel, and nearly everywhere you stop, you find someone you knew in high school--someone that you can talk to! Sharon told me that Carl Frazee, another B. H. S. graduate is a Major-General in the U. S. Army. He started in the National Guard in 1953, and has really made progress since.

I was also informed that another member of the 1953 graduating class, Don Sell has done very well for himself. He is now the world's greatest mathematician next to Albert Einstein. He is a very distinguished prof at Harvard University, and conducts a number of important experiments on the side. Mrs. Swales, his high school math teacher, is quite proud of her geometry student.

I boarded the plane back to Chicago the next day, and then took a train to Bippus. My, how that town has grown! It is now one of the largest industrial centers in the state of Indiana. Once there, I picked up the "BIPPUS TIMES," and read the bold black headlines: "BLACKSTONE DIES--TILSON KING REPLACES HIM IN ENTERTAINMENT WORLD." The story told of how the man who was my principal in high school has now replaced Blackstone, the world's most famous magician. It seems that T. King's amateur magician tricks paid off!

From the depot I went to see Mr. and Mrs. Earl King and all the little dukes, duchesses, and what-have-you. They are now living in a large Bippus mansion of 42nd Avenue. They have quite a family now consisting of two dogs, three cats, five goldfish, a parakeet, a seven year old daughter, and oh yes, two little demons, ages 3 and 5. Again--like father--like sons! Mr. King is now conducting the world famous Bippus Sympathy Orchestra. No, that is not a mistake--it is the Sympathy orchestra instead of the Symphony Orchestra. They play at weddings and receptions, having Sympathy for both the bride and groom (all of these men are married). I asked E. King if he had heard anything about Mrs. Wendel, the sponsor of the Senior Class of '53 and he replied that she and her husband are still on a farm, but in between cooking and washing dishes she is the best-known seamstress of Wabash County. She has made the wedding gowns for several Wabash girls. She specializes in making wedding gowns.

Marietta told me that our old classmate, Floyd Hoch, married the King's neighbor girl, Charlene Urschel, and they are now raising a very active set of twins. Floyd owns his own meat market in Bippus now. He does all of his own buying and butchering too--the beef is all angus, raised by nearby farmers. He is the one man that all housewives can trust not to sell his thumb! The only trouble he has is keeping the stray dogs and cats of the neighborhood out of the shop. His shoes get pretty dusty after a long day of kicking the waifs out!

Well, I'd better get back to my domineering husband. He might be wondering where I've been these last two weeks. He might even get violent since I didn't tell him where I was going or what I intended to do. That wouldn't be anything new, though. I'll see you again tomorrow and maybe we can have another long talk over the back fence!
